Spring 2018 Final Exam Information

Please help reduce scheduling conflicts during the exam period by informing your students of your scheduled exam day and time at the beginning of the semester. If possible, include exam information in your syllabi. The University's policy regarding final exams states that a departure from the published schedule may be made only with the consent of every student in the class and communicated to the Office of the Registrar.

Exam Schedule: The Spring Final Exam Schedule Template can be viewed on our website. A detailed final exam schedule, noting exam location, will be made available mid-term.

Instructional Time Standards: To meet the minimum standards of instructional time in our academic calendar, classes must meet during the scheduled final exam session. The final exam period is counted toward the minimum minutes of instructional time required to earn academic credit for the course. If a final examination is not given during the published final exam period, then it must be administered prior to the last week of class. The final examination period can then be used for oral presentations, for discussion, lecture, or other appropriate academic functions.

Reading Day: Reading Day is to guarantee that students have one day between scheduled classes and the first final examination day. Per the Academic Calendar policy, faculty must not require student participation in any course-related activities on Reading Day.

Policies: Please refer to the Academic Calendar policy and University Policy 202, Final Examinations for more info.

2018 Undergraduate Research Conference

Save the date for the 2018 Undergraduate Research Conference: Friday, April 20, 2018, Student Activity Center.

- Registration opens: Monday, February 12, 2018
- Registration closes: Friday, March 16, 2018, 5:00 PM

Please encourage your undergraduate students who are involved with research to apply for the URC. The UNC Charlotte Undergraduate Research Conference (URC) is a university-wide showcase of research projects completed by undergraduate students of all levels from all colleges and departments in the university. The URC is sponsored by Academic Affairs, the Atkins Library, Charlotte Research Institute, the Honors College, and the Levine Scholars program.

CONNECT Training and Early Alerts

Numerous CONNECT training sessions are scheduled for Spring 2018. These training sessions will include Early Alert Training. Early Alerts are due for designated courses by noon on Friday, February 2. Information on spring training for advisors and faculty for CONNECT, including the link for registration, can be found on the Academic Advising Technology Training webpage. Departments may also request to schedule their own training session to be held during a departmental meeting by contacting LeeFredrick Bowen, Director for Academic Advising Systems.

J. Murrey Atkins Library

Atkins’ New Catalog and Search System is Now Live
Atkins has launched a new library management and search system. The tabbed search box on the Library homepage now directs users to the new service where they can easily adjust searches to find different types of resources and items available at the Library (default search) or by clicking the "Libraries Worldwide" tab to search items not in Atkins Library. You will login using your NinerNET credentials. More information and tutorial videos are available on the Library website.

Library Infrastructure Project is Underway

Repairs and improvements to Atkins Library are underway and affect floors five through ten. The work is being done to replace lights, ceilings, piping, valves, controls and HVAC VAV boxes on these floors. The improvements are expected to be completed by mid-semester. Atkins will provide updates as the work progresses.

Public access to floors five through eight is restricted. Patrons should request items through the library’s catalog and will be notified when those items are available to be picked up from the hold shelf. Access Services staff will retrieve items for patrons at least twice a day. Please allow 24 hours for requested items to be retrieved.

The Special Collections and University Archives Dalton Reading Room and the quiet study area on the tenth floor are largely inaccessible during the renovations. Please contact Lolita Rowe at 7-1107 or spec-coll@uncc.edu for access to rare books, manuscripts, and other special collections materials by appointment. Instruction services with special collections will also be accommodated.

To compensate for the inaccessible quiet study areas on the tower floors, the third floor and the west side of the second floor (closest to the SAC) are designated for quiet study during this project. The current study areas on the ground floor (compact shelving room) and first floor (graduate/quiet study room) are also available.
