Additional Fall 2019 Make-Up Day

Currently, the optional reschedule date for classes affected by schedule interruptions is November 30. Because this date falls within the Thanksgiving break period, an additional reschedule date option is being provided: August 31. Unfortunately, August 31 aligns with a holiday, Labor Day. Due to Saturday only class space requirements, August 31 and November 30 are the only two optional reschedule dates that will not cause scheduling conflicts. Faculty can choose either date that works for them and their class if they need to reschedule a class meeting due to a schedule interruption (this only applies if a face-to-face meeting/class is necessary). Faculty have other options for meeting state and federal contact hour requirements. For more information, reference UNC Charlotte's Academic Procedure for Schedule Interruption Guidelines. For main campus classes beginning after 2:30 pm on Thursday, August 29, impacted by our first football game of the season, the option of two dates (August 31 and November 30) will provide a better alternative should a faculty member wish to reschedule an in-class meeting day. Because classes are not cancelled on August 29, course contact hours are still required.

Revised University Policy 407, Code of Student Academic Integrity

During spring 2018, the procedural responsibility for Code of Academic Integrity adjudication was realigned under the Dean of Students Office in a revamped Office of Student Conduct & Academic Integrity. This past year, the Code of Student Academic Integrity was completely revamped and rewritten. As a result, a number of changes have been made to the Code regarding processes, violations and sanctioning options. The new Code, University Policy 407, and a new Supplemental procedures document which explains the process more in depth, are available online. The Student Conduct & Academic Integrity website also continues to serve as a resource to help faculty as they promote a culture of academic integrity on campus.
